

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTRODUCTION.

IN the following pages I claim no greater merit than that of a diligent compiler.

With such a work as Renouard's "Annales de l'Imprimerie des Aldes" as a guide, all I have had to do has been to verify his facts, examine such objections as Brunet and other bibliographers have raised against his conclusions, and then state what I myself believe to be the truth, moulding the whole into as readable a form as I could, and endeavouring to make my Catalogue (for it is little more) as little tedious and technical as was consistent with the main object I had in view, viz.: to produce a handy guide for the use of the librarian and bibliophile. How far I have been successful, I leave others to judge.

The form I have given this Catalogue differs from Renouard's. I have given a short narrative of the lives of Aldus Manutius the Elder, Paulus Manutius, and Aldus Manutius the Younger, inserting notices of the works printed by them in chronological order, while the Index at the end of Vol. III. will enable the reader to refer at once to any particular work he may desire to obtain information about.

EDMUND GOLDSMID.

EDINBURGH, January 1887.

THE ALDINE PRESS.

ALDO MANUZIO, or, in the Latinised and better-known form, Aldus Manutius, was born in 1447, in the small town of Bassiano, near Velletri, for he calls himself Manutius Bassianus both in the Thesaurus Cornucopiæ of 1496 and in the Aristotle of 1495-97, and the word Bassianus is explained by Aldus the Younger, his grandson, in No. 4 of his Quæsitæ per Epistolam, 1596, when, writing to Cardinal Niccolò Gaetano, he informs him that he is led to dedicate his work to him, because his grandfather's native place belonged to the family of Gaetano: "Quod autem majus, quam avum ex eo loco cui familia tua jus dicit, avitoque imperio præses, originem ducere." The Cardinal was Prince of Sermonetta, in which principality Bassiano was situated. Renouard attributes the fact of Aldus having changed his designation from Bassianus to Romanus to the comparative obscurity of Bassiano, which led him to adopt the name of the nearest large city, the greatest of ancient or modern times.

From his own account, it appears that the person to whom his father intrusted his education was an ignorant pedagogue, who made him learn off by heart the barbarous verses of the Doctrinale of Alexander de Villa-Dei, supposed to inculcate the principles of the Latin grammar, though in reality ridiculous and often unintelligible nonsense. It was, however, the only elementary book of instruction in this branch then in use, and bitter was the lot of the youth of those days who had not at his elbow an intelligent master to expound its obscure mysteries! Aldus ever remembered the tortures his brain had suffered when poring over Villa-Deis' grammar, and one of his first works was the composition of a Latin grammar, first printed by him in 1501, and since often reprinted, which soon drove his old enemy into well-merited oblivion. It is, of course, wanting in the precision and analytical method of modern days, but Aldus, as a grammarian, has the same merit as is universally conceded to him as a typographer, of having enabled those who followed him to do better than himself. A few years later he went to Rome, where he studied under that peregrinus grammaticus (as he calls him in his preface to the Hesiod of 1495), Caspar of Verona, and Domizio Calderino. (See preface to Statius of 1502).

Under these celebrated professors, he made rapid progress in the study of Latin, and was soon named tutor to Alberto Pio, Prince of Carpi, nephew of John Picus of Mirandola. A warm friendship sprang up between master and pupil, which lasted throughout their lives, and amongst various privileges conferred on Aldus, we find the Prince in 1503 authorising him to add to his name the name of Pio. From that time Aldus always calls himself Aldus Pius Manutius Romanus. The Prince seems to have resided near Ferrara, where Aldus attended the lectures of Giovanni Guarini, who then filled the chair of Greek in that city. How he profited by his lessons may be gathered from his numerous editions of Greek authors and from his Greek Grammar, which, even now, has a certain value.

In the year 1482 Ferrara was threatened by the Venetian army, and Aldus withdrew to Mirandola, under the protection of his pupil's uncle, "quod et amaret literatos viros, et faveret ingeniis," as he writes to Polizianus in 1485. Picus certainly conferred great favours on Aldus, and, in 1488, advanced him the necessary funds to start a press at Venice, this city appearing to offer the greatest advantages, from its love of Arts and Literature. The date is fixed by Aldus himself, in the preface to the Aristotelis Organum of 1495, as he says it is then the seventh year he has been engaged in the difficult and expensive operation of establishing a press. The first work printed by him was

1. MUSÆI Opusculum de Herone & Landro quod & in latinam linguam ad uerbum tralatum est. Græce et latine. 4to.

Collation: For the Greek, 10 leaves (Sigs. A to Aiiij);—For the Latin, Title-page, and 11 leaves (Sigs. Bij to Bvj). These 22 leaves are generally bound so that the Latin faces the Greek. Some copies have on the second and third Latin leaves the sigs. C and Cij.

This edition of Musæus is not only the first work of Aldus as a printer, which is proved by the preface to the 8vo. edition of 1517, but also the Editio Princeps of the poem itself, the Florence edition, 4to, no date, printed by Alopa in capitals, having only appeared after the Anthologia of 1496, in the preface to which Lascaris speaks of the use of capitals for the text as an advantageous innovation, whilst it evidently preceded the Greek Grammar of Lascaris, issued by Aldus in 1494. It was printed early in the latter year. It is one of the very rarest of the productions of the Venice press. From a literary point of view, however, the Florence edition is the best. (See Matth. Rover's edition of Musæus, Leyden, 1737).

The Musæus was soon followed (in February 1494-5) * by

2. CONSTANTINI Lascaris Erotemata, cum interpretatione latina, etc. 4to,

This being the first work printed by Aldus with a date, which occurs in the colophon :

Finis Compendii octo orationis partium & aliorum quorundam necessariorum Constantini Lascaris Byzantii uiri doctissimi optimique. Impressum est Venetiis summo studio: literis ac impensis Aldi Manucii Romani Anno ab in Carnatione Domini nostri IESV Christi. m. cccc. lxxxxiiii Ultimo Februarii. et Deo gratias.

Collation: Title-page, at back of which occurs the preface, which is continued on second leaf. The Text begins on the back of this leaf, and continues to sig. S, on the last page of which is the above colophon. Then comes another series of three signatures, A B and C, containing a preface of Aldus Ad Studiosos, an Alphabetum Græcum, Oratio Dominica, Carmina aurea Pythagoræ, &c. &c., all of which are mentioned on the title-page, and are therefore part of the work, though the last page of sig. C has

---

* See note on page 16.

VALETE. VENETHIS. M.

CCCC. LXXXXV.

which proves that the book, though dated in former colophon 1494, really appeared in 1495. This is again followed by two leaves, not included in the register of signatures, containing errata and a passage from Moscopulus. [Register: A—R in fours, S in twos, A—C in fours, 2 leaves not included in register.]

Renouard thinks the Lascaris, the type of which was extremely rude, and was never again used, except for a few lines in the first volume of the Aristotle of 1495, was the first work begun by Aldus, but that the Museus was undertaken, and, being very short, was completed while the Lascaris was passing through the press. This view I quite agree with.

Panser (vol. iii., p. 378) mentions a copy of which sig. S must have been reprinted, as the colophon, instead of occupying six lines, as is usual, takes up fourteen lines, and bears the date

*Anno ab incarnatione Dni nri IESV
xti. m. cccclxxxxv. ultimo Februarii.*

The Lascaris no doubt proved a profitable undertaking, for it appears from the preface that the first edition of the work (Milan, 1476, folio) had already become scarce. The Aldine edition is now, however, rarer than the Editio princeps.

For some years Aldus had been preparing an edition in Greek of the works of Aristotle. It is difficult to picture to one's self the gigantic labour involved in such an undertaking. The mere deciphering of such a mass of ancient manuscripts, many unintelligible or disfigured through the ignorance of the scribes, and no two copies agreeing in their readings, must have presented such difficulties that we can only wonder at and admire the courage of him who first undertook such a task. And when we remember that Aldus did this not only in the case of the five volumes which form his collection of the works of Aristotle, but also in the numerous editions of Greek authors which he afterwards produced, we cannot be astonished that a few errors should have crept in, a few readings should appear doubtful, which later editors, lighted on their way by the lamp he had lit, have been enabled to rectify since his day. The first volume of the collected works appeared with the title :

3. ORGANON Aristotelis (hoc est logici ac dialectici libri.) Græce. Folio. H

The date appears in the colophon (on last page but one) :

Impressum Venetiis dexteritate Aldi Manucii Romani. Calendis Nouembris m. cccc. lxxxxv.

Collation: 234 leaves, without pagination or catch words, but with signatures.

The four last volumes did not appear till 1497-98. Aldus was assisted in his work by Alexander Bondinus (Agathemerus), and the volume was dedicated to his former pupil, Alberto, Prince of Carpi. To each volume Aldus has prefixed a preface, and to understand the plan of the work, these should be read. Indeed, all his prefaces are worth reading: some on account of the information they give as to the method adopted by the editor; others for the scraps of valuable knowledge imparted as to the lives and manners of the principal literary men of the 15th century. Complete copies of the Aristotle are scarce. A fine copy on vellum is in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris.

Two months later, in January 1495-6,* Aldus produced

4. THEODORI (Gazæ) Introductionæ grammatice libri quatuor. Eiusdem de Mensibus opusculum . . . Apollonii grammatici de constructione libri quatuor. Herodianus de numeris. Græce. Folio.

The colophon reads:

Impressum Venetiis in ædibus Aldi

---

* See note on page 16.

Romani octavo Calendas Ianuarius. M. cccclxxxv. Concessum est eidem Aldo ab illustrissimo Senatu Veneto ne cui hunc librum liceat imprimere sub pœna ut in gratia.

Collation : 198 leaves.

This edition is extremely rare, containing, as it does, the editiones principes of all four authors, but at the same time very incomplete, in so far as regards the treatise of Apollonius, De Constructione. This Apollonius, surnamed ΔΥΣΚΟΛΟΣ (morosus), was the father of Herodianus, whose work follows in the same volume, and taught at Alexandria under Adrian, coming to Rome under Marcus Aurelius. Junta issued an edition of the De Constructione in 1515, 8vo, as incomplete as that of Aldus. The first complete edition is that of Frankfort, 1590, 4to.

In February were published

5. THEOCRITI Eclogæ triginta, &c.

Colophon :

Impressum Venetiis characteribus ac studio Aldi Manucii Romani cum gratia, etc. M. cccc. xcv. Mense Februarii. Folio.

Collation : 140 leaves without pagination, but with signatures.

The edition is very rare, and is the first of almost all the works it contains. In Reiske's Theocritus, p. vii., will be found a list of differences noted by Reiske in two copies of this edition. Renouard concludes that signatures Z F and Θ G were reprinted with certain corrections. There are many emendations in the second impression, but it may be at once distinguished by the last page of sig. Θ G having a piece of verse on the death of Adonis, while the original is blank. Of the two impressions the first is the rarest, the second the best.

H. Bouic ✓

The year 1495, old style,* closed with the publication of Aldus's first entirely Latin work,

6. PIETRI Bembi de Aetna ad Angelvm Chabrielem liber.

Colophon :

*Impressum Venetiis in Aedibus Aldi
Romani mense Februario Anno. M. VD.
4to.*

Collation: 60 pages, with signatures A to D.

This pamphlet is as beautiful as it is rare, Aldus having thrown aside the rude type used in the Museus, as well as the still ruder employed in the Lascaris. The text begins on the first page.

---

* It must be remembered that the Old Calendar made the year begin in March and end in February, so that November 1495 was three months earlier than February 1495.

Renouard considers that one other work was printed by Aldus in 1495, viz. :—

7. ALEXANDRI Benedicti Pæantii
Diaria de Bello Carolino. 4to.

These sheets bear no date, but are printed with the same type used for the Bembi Aetna of 1495. It does not seem to me, however, that the type is so new in the Diaria as in the Aetna, and as the latter is dated at the end of 1495, I would rather attribute the former to the year 1496.

In 1496 Aldus produced, so far as we know, but one book, viz. :—

- 8. THESAURVS Cornucopiæ. &
Horti Adonidis. Græce. Folio.

The colophon reads :—

*Venetiis in domo Aldi Romani summa cura: laboreq: præmagno. Mense Augusto.
M. IIII. D. Ab Ill. Senatu. V. concessum est nequis &c. ut in cæteris. Vale qui legeris.*

Collation : 280 leaves in all.

This is a fine edition, well printed, and extremely rare.

In 1497, the productions of Aldus's press increase considerably in number. We have

Collation: 212 leaves.

These volumes form the second, third, and fourth of Aristotle's works, the first of which appeared in 1495. The fourth volume is very rare. Even in 1499 Erasmus, in one of his letters, says he could not get a copy. Bolzanus or Bolzani was born at Belluno, and assisted Aldus in many of his Greek editions.

14. INDEX eorum, quæ hoc in libro habentur.

A copy of this rare book is in the Sapiientia library at Rome.

17. LIBELLUS de Epidemia, quam uulgo morbum Gallicum uocant.—In fine: Venetiis, In domo Aldi Manutii. Mense Iunio. M. iii. d. 4to.

Collation: 29 leaves, the last often wanting.

This is the first book printed relative to this disease. It was written by Nicolaus Leonicens. It is very rare.

18. HORAE beatiss. uirginis secundum consuetudinem romanæ curiæ. Septem psalmi pœnitentiales cum Letaniis et orationibus, &c. Graece.—* In fine:

* With very few exceptions, the imprint of all Aldine editions is at the end of the volume, not on the title page. In future, therefore, I shall merely quote the colophon after the title, omitting the words, In fine.

Venetiis, Aldus Manutius, 1497, die v. mensis Decembris. 8vo.

Collation: 112 leaves. This book, like all ancient Horæ, is extremely rare.

In 1498, only four works seem to have issued from the presses of Aldus, viz.:

19. ARISTOTELIS quintum et ultimum uolumen. Graece.

Ethicorum ad Nicomachum, libri x. Politicorum, libri viii. Oeconomicorum, libri ii. Magnorum moralium, libri ii. Moralium ad Eudemum, libri viii. — Venetiis. m. iid. Mense iunio. Apud Aldum. et hoc cum priuilegio. Folio.

Collation: 317 leaves. This volume completes the Editio princeps of Aristotle.

Collation: 452 leaves. The last sig. K is blank.

The conspiracy of the Pazzi is omitted, probably because Aldus feared to irritate the court of Rome by reprinting a history in which a Pope appeared as an accomplice in a premeditated murder.

22. IOANNIS Reuchlin Phorcensis

in ædibus Aldi Manutii, 8vo.

Mentioned by Renouard as being extremely rare.

Besides these works, Aldus issued a catalogue in 1498, which is extremely curious, as the prices at which Aldus sold his books are given. Only one copy of this catalogue, as well as of the catalogues of 1503 and 1513, is known to exist. It was discovered in a Greek manuscript (No. 3064) in the Bibliothèque Nationale of Paris. On the back of the Catalogue of 1513 is written, it is believed, by Francis d' Asola : " Il primo Indice de la bona anima di M. Aldo." These catalogues are reprinted in full in the appendix to vol iii, of this work.

In 1499, five works appeared, viz.:

23. EPISTOLARUM græcarum Collectio. Græce.—Venetiis apud Aldum mense Martio. m. id. cum privilegio ut in cæteris.

2 parts in 1 vol., 4to.

Collation: Part i., 138 leaves.—Part ii., 266 leaves. A rare edition.

Collation : 234 leaves.

An extraordinary book, written in Italian, interspersed with manufactured words from the Greek, Hebrew, etc. It contains many woodcuts, attributed to Andrea Mantegna. The author was Francis Columna, and is revealed in a quaint fashion. By taking the 38 initial letters of the 38 chapters in the work, we find the following sentence:—Poliam frater Franciscus Columna peramavit. Columna was a Venetian monk, who died in 1525, aged over 80. The plate of the sacrifice to Priapus, sig. M., being somewhat free, is often wanting. The work is very rare, and fetches a high price.

The year 1500 only produced two books :

- H 28. T. LVCRETII Cari, libri sex nuper
Bowie ✓ emendati. — Venetiis, accuratiss. Apud Aldum, mense Decem. M. D. 4to.

Collation : vi and 102 leaves.

Very inferior to the edition of 1515, but scarce.

- H 29. EPISTOLE devotissime de Sancta
Yor 1500 ✓ Catharina da Siena. — *Stampato in la
Inclita Cita de Venetia in Casa de Aldo
Manutio Romano a di xv Septembrio.
M. ccccc. Folio.*

Collation : x and 414 pages.

Extremely scarce, especially in good condition, having been much read by the nuns of the day. It is beautifully printed on splendid paper.

With the year 1501, we enter on a new epoch in the annals of the Aldine Press, for it is in this year that the celebrated italic first makes its appearance. But before referring to it in detail I must mention :

30. POETAE Christiani veteres, 1501-2.
Venetiis apud Aldum mense Ianuario.
—M. D1. 2 vols. 4to.

PRVDENTII POETAE OPERA.

the second

QVAE HOC LIBRO CONTINENTUR.

Sedulii mirabilium diuinorum, &c.

This book is the first in which Aldus used his celebrated mark of the anchor. He had long meditated adopting it, for, at the end of the collection of old astronomers published in 1499, he says, "Sum ipse mihi optimus testis, me semper habere comites, ut oportere aiunt, Delphinum et Anchoram. Nam et dedimus multa cunctando, et damus assidue." And on page d 7 of the Polyphilus of the same date, at the foot of one of the quaint wood engravings, will be found this emblem. The first mark adopted is a plain anchor, somewhat square at the bottom, with a dolphin twisted round it, and the name ALDVS printed in two syllables, one on each side. In some of his early books the same mark is surrounded with a border. In 1540 his sons had it re-engraved, the anchor being more rounded at the bottom, and the dolphin not clinging so closely to it. In 1546, it became far more elaborate, an ornament of flowers, cupids, &c., surrounding it, and the words being changed to Aldi Filii. In 1555, Paulus Manutius having become sole master of the establishment, returned to mark No. 2, sometimes surrounded with an oval border. The Emperor Maximilian having granted to Paulus Manutius certain arms in which the anchor and dolphin appeared, Aldus the younger adopted them as his typographical mark, which he used till 1581. After that date we find none but the old No. 2 used.

After this extremely rare collection of Christian poets, Aldus published :

31. PHILOSTRATI de uita Apollonii Tyanei libri octo. Iidem libri latini interprete Alemano Rinuccino florentino. Eusebius contra Hieroclem quem Tyaneum Christo conferre conatus fuerit. Idem latinus interprete Zenobio Acciolo florentino ordinis prædicatorum. Venetis in ædibus Aldi mense februario. M. D. II. Folio.

Collation : 143 leaves.

Three dates appear on this volume, 1501, 1502, and 1503. It was probably issued in parts in these years. Some large paper copies are known.

32. VERGILIUS.—Venetis ex aedibus Aldi Romani mense aprili. M. DI. 8vo.

Collation: 228 leaves.

This is the first work printed by Aldus with his celebrated italic type. It is said that Petrarch's writing first suggested this form, and that the designer and engraver was Francis of Bologna, who had designed and engraved all his previous founts. However this may be, and the verses at beginning of the virgil of 1501, "In Grammatoglyptæ laudem" seem to me to prove the fact beyond all question, this little italic caused a revolution in printing, for, notwithstanding special privileges granted to Aldus by Pope Alexander VI, by the senate of Venice, and other sovereigns and republics, imitations sprang up at Fano, in the duchy of Urbino; at Florence, where the Giunti, however religious they might be, cared little for ecclesiastical thunders in purely commercial matters; at Lyons, Basle and other places.

This book is extremely rare.—Three copies on vellum are known: one in the British Museum, one belonging to Lord Spencer, and one that belonged to Mr. Woodhull. Though precious on account of its rarity, it is far surpassed, as a literary work, by the edition of 1514. Seven other works appeared in the same year.*

* See also under Doubtful Editions, in Vol. iii.

33. NONNI Panopolitæ Paraphrasis Evangelii secundum Ioannem. Graece. 4to.

Collation: 51 leaves, without title page.

That this book was published in 1501 is proved by a statement of Aldus himself on the last page of his Greg. Naz. Carmina of 1504. Very rare.

34. HORATIVUS. — Venetiis apud Aldum Romanum mense Maio. M. DI. 8vo.

Collation: 143 leaves;—1 blank leaf.

As rare as the Virgil of the same date. Copies on vellum are in the British Museum and Spencer libraries.

35. LE COSE volgari di Messer Francesco Petrarca. — Impresso in Vinegia nelle case d' Aldo Romano, nel anno. M DI. del mese di Luglio. 8vo.

Collation: 189 leaves.

The four last leaves, containing a long epistle of Aldus, with an errata, were published after the volume had been issued, and are therefore often wanting. It is the first Italian book printed by Aldus. Very rare.

36. JUVENALIS. PERSIVS. — Venetiis in ædibus Aldi. Mense Augusto.

M. DI.

Collation: 76 leaves.

There are two editions bearing the same date. One, without the anchor; the other with. This last is evidently the second, as the imprint reads:

Venetis in aedibus Aldi, et Andreae Soceri. Li 13. 107. 5
Mense Augusto M. D. I. 8vo.

And Andrea d'Asola only became partner with Aldus in 1508, as we shall see later.

37. MARTIALIS.—Venetis in aedibus Aldi, mense Decembri. M. DI. 8vo.

Collation: 192 leaves.

Several copies on vellum are known.

38. GEORGII Vallae Placentini Viri Clariss. De expetendis, et fugiendis rebus opvs, in quo haec continentur, etc.—Venetis in aedibus Aldi Romani, impensa, ac studio Ioannis Petri Vallae filii pientiss. mense Decembri. M. D. I. 2 vols. Folio.

Two splendid volumes, with absolutely nothing interesting in them.

39. ALDI Manutii Romani Rvdimenta Grammatices Latinae Linguae. Venetis Mense febr. M. DI. 4to.

Extremely rare.

Aldus had long felt that he could not, notwithstanding his energy, do justice to all his work if he continued single-handed. He collected around him a body of the most learned men of the age, whom he called Aldi Neacademia. On certain days they assembled in his house to discuss interesting literary points, to decide what authors should be published, and especially what manuscripts should be adopted as the text to be followed. These manuscripts he procured with infinite trouble and expense from all parts of Europe. About 1500 or 1501, Aldus married the daughter of Andrea Torresano, of Asola, also a Venetian printer, who, as I shall show later on, became his son-in-law's partner in 1508. In 1502, Aldus published sixteen works :

40. LVCANVS.—Venetiis apud Aldum mense Aprili. m. dii. 8vo.

Collation : 132 leaves. It has not got the anchor.

41. IVLII Pollvcis Vocabvlarium.—Venetiis apud Aldum mense Aprili. m. dii. Folio.

Collation : 104 leaves, besides 8 leaves of indices.

The title page follows the indices.

The Editio princeps.

42. THVCYDIDES (Graece). —Venetiis in domo Aldi mense Maio. m. dii. Folio.

Collation : 122 leaves.

Editio princeps. It is very rare.

43. LE Terze Rime di Dante.—Venetiis <sup>H AL.</sup>
in Aedib. Aldi. accuratissime. men. Aug. (An 25.2) m. dii. 8vo.

Collation: 252 leaves.

This is the first 8vo. edition of Dante.

44. SOPHOCLIS Tragaediæ (sic) septem cum commentariis. Graece.—Venetiis in Aldi Romani Academia mense Augusto. m. dii. Cautum et in hoc ut in caeteris, etc. 8vo.

Collation: 196 leaves.

The title page is in Latin and Greek. This is the Editio princeps. Many people imagine that the fine old Aldine editions are merely literary curiosities: the following quotation from Brunck's preface to his edition of Sophocles, 1786, proves the value this learned editor set on the work done by Aldus:

"Primus edidit Aldus Manutius Romanus ex antiquis et probae notae codicibus. Praestantissima omnium haec editio est, quae majorem quam ceterae omnes auctoritatem habet, et plus quam quaevis alia fide digna est. Ex ea fere expressae sunt quaecumque dimidii seculi intervallo diversis in locis prodierunt. . . . Adr. Turnebus codicem a Demetrio Triclinio recensitum. . . . edidit. . . . ab ea discedere nefas duxerunt H. Stephanus et G. Canterus. . . . Verumtamen illa Triclinii interpolatio nequiquam digna erat, quæ sincero textui ab Aldo edito praeferretur: pravus lectiones passim intrusit : maxime vero in canticis impudentissima audacia grassatus est. . . . Puritatem lectionis ex Aldina petendam esse semper fassi sunt viri doctiores. . . . Quapropter huic editioni Aldinam tamquam fundamentum substruxi : ad eam unice respexi, de reliquis nihil vel parum sollicitus. Ubiqumque ab ea discessi, mutationis rationem in notis exposui. . . ."

45. CICERONIS Epistolæ familiares.
—Venetiis apud Aldum. m. d. ii. 8vo.

An extremely rare volume, the existence of which is proved by its having formed part of the Pinelli Library (No. 3784).

46. LA Vita : e sito de Zichi : chia-mati ciarcassi : historia notabile. (di

Collation : 140 leaves.

Editio princeps et optima. One of the finest works printed by Aldus. It is rare, and happy is the possessor of one of the very few large paper copies that were printed !

48. VALERII Maximi Dictorum et factorum memorabilium libri novem.—
Venetiis in aedib. Aldi Romani Octobri mense. M. DII. 8vo. H 2

Collation: 216 leaves.

Editions of Valerius Maximus have been announced with the dates 1503, 1508, 1510, 1511, 1512, but no satisfactory proof has ever been furnished of their actual existence.

49. STATII Sylvarum libri quinque Thebaidos libri dodecim Achilleidos dvo.—
Venetiis in aedibus Aldi. Mense Augusto. M. DII. 8vo. f. 1
C. 11. 21

Collation: 292 leaves.

This volume should contain 40 leaves, sometimes placed at the beginning, sometimes at the end, with the following title-page in capitals:—

“Orthographia et flexus dictionum graecarum omnium apud Statium cum accentibus et generibus. ex variis utriusque linguae auctoribus.”

These 40 pages are dated “Mense Novembri. MDII.” This has given rise to the belief of two editions of Statius in 1502.

Collation: 203 leaves.

The "De Tristibus" was only issued in 1503, but the "Fasti" bear the date of 1502.

This is one of the most precious of all the Aldine editions.

53. I. BAPTISTAE Egnatii Oratio in Lavdem Benedicti Prvnvli.—Ex Academia Aldi Ro. M. DII. pri. Cal. Octob. 8vo.

etc.

A fine copy on vellum is in the British Museum.

In the following year Aldus produced 10 works, besides a catalogue, which I give entire in the appendix to Vol. III.

56. QVE (sic) hocvolvmine continentvr.

Iunio. M. DIII. Folio.

Collation: 572 pp., but only paged to 571, through an error beginning p. 450.

A poor edition, from a literary point of view;
very inferior to the Editio princeps, Florence, 1496, folio.

Collation: 146 leaves.

In the preface to this work, Aldus assumed for the first time the surname of Pius, after his friend and protector, Albertus Pius, Prince of Carpi.

58. QVAE hoc in volumine tractantur. Bessarionis Cardinalis Niceni & Patriarchæ Constantinopolitani in calumniatorem Platonis libri quatuor, etc.—Venetiis in aedib. Aldi Romani, Iulio mense M. D. III. Folio.

Regarding this book Renouard writes as follows :

“Ce volume est une portion du précédent. Fr. Asulanus, imprimant en 1525 Xénophon complet, et ayant encore des exemplaires de son recueil de 1503, en ôta la première partie, qui ne contenait qu’une petite portion de Xénophon, et fit un nouveau titre, avec une courte préface au verso de ce titre, dans laquelle il expliquait qu’il s’était arrangé ainsi pour qu’on pût acquérir ce volume et le joindre au Xénophon de 1525, sans avoir cependant rien de répété.

“Ce titre et cette préface ont donc été imprimés après l’année 1525, époque de la publication du Xénophon entier. J’en ai un exemplaire réuni, dans son ancienne reliure, avec l’édition d’Ulpian, de 1527; et la confrontation de la dernière page de cet Ulpian avec le titre de Gemistius, m’a convaincu que ce titre a été fait en 1527, en même temps que l’édition d’Ulpian, précisément avec les mêmes caractères et autres pièces d’imprimerie.”

62. FLORILEGIUM diversorum epi- †

grammatvm in septem libros. Græce.—Venetiis in ædibus Aldi mense Nouembri. M. DIII. 8vo.

Collation : 290 leaves.

This is the rarest and handsomest of the three editions issued by the Aldine press. Some copies were printed on vellum : one was in Dr Askew's library.

63. EVRIPIDIS tragoediæ septendecim, ex quib. quædam habent commentaria, etc.—Venetiis apud Aldum mense februario. M. D. III. 2 vol. 8vo.

Collation : Vol. I., 268 leaves—Vol. II., 190 leaves.

Edito princeps. It contains 18 tragedies, although only 17 are mentioned on the title-page, Hercules Furens having been added at the end of Vol. II. In the preface Aldus mentions that he usually printed 1000 copies of his 8vo. editions, although in the preface to the Catullus of 1502 he mentions having printed 3000 copies of that book. This book is rare. A vellum copy is in the British Museum.

64. QVAE hoc in libro continentvr. Origenis in Genesim Homiliæ. 16. Eiusdem in Exodum Homiliæ. 13. Eiusdem in Leuiticum Homiliæ. 16. Eiusdem in

Collation : vi and 182 leaves.

In 1504 Aldus produced six works :

65. SCIPIONIS Carteromachi Pistoriensis Oratio de Lavdibvs literarvm graecarvm Venetiis habita mense Ianuario. M. D. IIII.—Venetiis ex Aldi Neacademia mense Maio. M. D. III. 8vo.

Collation : 15 leaves ;—1 blank leaf.

Very rare.

66. IOANNIS grammatici in Posteriora resolutoria Aristotelis Comentaria. Graece.—Venetiis apud Aldum mense Martio. M. DIIII. Folio.

Collation : 295 pp. ; numbered on both sides ;—12 unnumbered leaves.

This is the first vol. in which Aldus numbered each page.

67. HABENTVR hoc Volvmine haec Theodoro Gaza interprete.

Aristotelis de natura animalium. lib. ix., etc. Latine.—Venetiis mense Martio. M. D. IIII. Folio.

Collation: xxviii and 274 leaves.

68. GREGORII Nazanzeni Cármina, cum versione latina.—Venetiis ex Aldi Academia mense Iunio. M. DIII. 4to.

Collation: 232 leaves.

This forms the 3rd vol. of the collection of Christian poets.

69. HOMERI Opera omnia, cum vita ejus ex Herodoto, Dione et Plutarcho. Graece.—2 calend. nouemb. 1504. 2 vols. 8vo.

Collation: Iliad, 277 leaves;—1 blank leaf;—Odyssey, 250 leaves;—Life of Homer, 56 leaves.

This edition has often been announced as without a date, probably because the date only appears in the preface to the Odyssey. Copies were printed on vellum.

70. DEMOSTHENIS orationes duæ & sexaginta. Libanii sophistæ in eas ipsas orationes argumenta. Vita Demosthenis per Libanium. Eiusdem uita per Plutarchum. Graece.—Venetiis in ædib. Aldi. mense Nouem. M. D. IIII. Folio.

Collation: part i., xxviii. and 320 pp.; part ii., 286 pp.;—6 unnumbered pages;—1 blank leaf.

Of this book there are two editions; the first,

which is the rarest and the handsomest, may be recognised by the Aldine Anchor having the name of the printer thus

Whilst the second has the name divided thus—

AL

DVS.

It appears that in 1513 Aldus, when printing his Greek orators being out of his Demosthenes of 1504, reprinted it, but with the same date of 1504. The second edition is the best from a literary point of view. It appears from the preface that Aldus printed a very small number of copies; why, we have no means of ascertaining.

71. CIMBRIACI poetæ Encomiastica ad Federicum Imp. et Maximilianum Regem Roman.—Venetiis, apud Aldum m. d. iiii. 8vo.

This is the first edition of these little poems which were edited by Giovanni da Camerino, professor of Theology at Vienna.

Seven works were issued in 1505:

72. GLI Asolani di Messer Pietro Bembo.—Impressi in Venetiis nelle Case d'Aldo Romano nel anno m. dv. del mese di Marzo. 4to.

H. (Boni)
Ital. 7522.6

N<sup>o</sup> 2505 -

Collation: 96 leaves;—1 leaf marked N containing errata;—1 blank leaf. In some copies page 2 of sheet A i is blank and sheet A ii is wanting. It appears that the dedication was addressed to Lucrezia Borgia, daughter of Pope Alexander vi., and wife at that time of Alphonso d'Este, Duke of Ferrara. Whilst the work was being printed, disputes arose between Alphonso and Julius ii., and Aldus, who was devoted to the Holy See, thought it best to suppress the dedication. This necessitated the reprinting of the title page and the suppression of sheet marked A ii, on which the dedication was being printed. Copies with the dedication are of course extremely rare.

Collation : viii and 304 leaves;—1 leaf with anchor.

As rare as the edition of 1501.

In 1506, the war which raged in Italy caused Aldus to leave Venice, and his works were therefore closed. He lost heavily through the war, and when he returned to Venice in 1507, he found himself poorer than when he had left it. He began to work, but found himself crippled by want of means. He only managed to produce one work,

A rare and little known volume.

In 1508, Andrea Torresano, or, as he is better known, Andrea d'Asola, entered into partnership with him, and his capital enabled Aldus to push ahead with his masterpieces. The first bearing this date is 80. ALDI Manvtii Romani Institutionvm Grammaticarvm libri quatuor.—Venetiis apud Aldum Aprilis mense m. d. viii. 4to.

War again forced Aldus to close his establishment. During the latter part of 1509, and the whole of the years 1510 and 1511, no book was published by him, although several have been announced by bibliographers, which will be found mentioned under "Imaginary Editions," in Vol. iii. In 1512, the year his third son, Paulus Manutius, was born, he resumed work, and three works bear that date :

Collation : xxxii and 340 leaves.

120. ALDI Manvtii Romani grammaticæ institutiones graecae. — Novembri m. d. xv. 4to.

Collation: 136 leaves.

The preface, addressed to Jean Grolier, so well known to lovers of fine bindings, is extremely curious. The book is extremely rare.

---

Two other works were published by Aldus without a date—viz.:

121. QVINTI Calabri Derelictorum ab Homero libri quatordecim. Græce. 71 '2 8vo. And

122. CONSTANTINI Lascaris Byzantini de octo partibus orationis, etc.,—Venetis apud Aldum. 4to.

The former has 172 leaves, the latter 298.

The Calaber is generally assigned to 1521, but I believe 1505 to be more correct, whilst the Lascaris must have appeared between 1498 and 1503.

In the month of April of this year Aldus closed his laborious career, dying at the age of 70. He left four children—Manutio de, Manutii, who became priest and lived at Asola, where he was often visited by his brother Paulus; Antonio, who cultivated literature, and was certainly a bookseller at Bologna, if not a printer (see under the year 1556); Paulus Manutius, born in 1512, who afterwards carried on his father's business; and a daughter, whose name is unknown, but who married a certain Julio Catone, of Mantua.

It is difficult to picture to ourselves the passion with which Aldus reproduced the master-pieces of ancient literature, and it would seem impossible that one man should have been able to carry on simultaneously the laborious occupations of a printer, editor, and author, besides delivering lectures on a variety of subjects to the youth of Venice. Such men are rare in our day, and though I know an instance or two, the men themselves, in most cases, pass unnoticed by the crowd, and are often looked down upon by the vulgar. Happily for Aldus, such has not been the case with him. The names of the Estiennes, the Plantins, and especially of the Elzeviers and of Aldus and his son, will live as long as men study the gems of antiquity! Honour to those who have rescued from the obliterating dust of ages those marvellous productions of Greece and of Rome, which, had it not been for their days of labour and nights of toilsome research, had probably, long ere now, been lost to us for ever!

THE ALDINE PRESS.

ANDREA D'ASOLA AND HIS SONS.

AFTER the death of Aldus, his children being still quite young, his father-in-law, Andrea d'Asola, undertook the management of the printing establishment, assisted by his two sons, Francesco and Frederick. From 1515 to 1529 edition followed edition in rapid succession, and if, from a literary point of view, the works which issued from the Aldine Press during these fourteen years are inferior as a rule to those of Aldus, or of Paul Manutius, they are at any rate beautifully printed, most of them rare, and much sought after. One mistake Andrea Torresano made: instead of gathering round him men whose learning might have assisted him in the difficult task which had now fallen to his share, either from false economy or literary presumption, he endeavoured to do the whole of the editing assisted only by his sons.

All the works, with few exceptions, printed during the regency, if we may so call it, of Andrea d'Asola bear the imprint: In Aedibus Aldi et Andreae Asulani Soceri, and I shall therefore omit this imprint, save where any difference appears in the formula.

In 1516 eleven works appeared :

123. QVAE in hoc volvmine continentvr.
Annotationes in omnia Ouidij opera,
etc. Februario M.D. XVI. 8vo.

Collation: xlviiii and 204 leaves.

124. CLA. PTOLEMAEI inerrantivm
Stellarum significationes per Nicolaum Leonicum è græco translatae, etc. Ianuario M.D. XVI. 8vo.

Collation: xxii and 227 leaves; 1 leaf with anchor.

This edition is nearly as rare as the first, and is superior to it as regards purity of text. Some vellum copies are known.

125. LUDOVICI Cœlii Rhodigini Lec-tionum antiquarum libri sexdecim. Feb-ruario M.D. XVI. Folio.

Collation: 862 pages;—3 unnumbered leaves.

Before the text are 40 leaves of tables, &c., and the first page does not bear the title of the book, but a kind of advertisement printed in red capitals.

126. GREGORII. Nazanzeni Theologi
Orationes lectissimae xvi. Graece. Aprili.
M.D. XVI. 8vo.

Collation: viii and 311 leaves;—1 leaf with anchor.

127. LVCIANI Opvscvla Erasmo Roterodamo interprete. Toxaris, siue de Amicitia. Alexander, qui & Pseudomantis. Gallus, siue Somnium Timon, seu Misanthropus. Tyrannicida, seu pro tyrannicida. Collation: Part i., 108 leaves; Part ii., 296 leaves.

130. C. SÜETONIÛ Tranquili XII Cæsares. Sexti Aurelij Victoris à D. Cæsare Augusto usq; ad Theodosium excerpta. Eutropij de gestis Romanorum. Lib. x. Pauli Diaconi libri VIII ad Eutropij historiam additi. Augusto. M.D XVI. 8vo.

Collation: xxxii and 320 leaves.

Rare, and generally found in poor condition.

H
v. 112. 498. 90
131. BESSARIONIS Cardinalis Niceni, & Patriarchæ Constantinopolitani in calumniatorem Platonis libri quatuor, etc. Latine. Septembri. M.D. XVI. Folio.

Collation: Part i., viii and 116 leaves.—Part ii., 56 leaves.

This edition is not rare.

132. STRABO de Situ orbis. Graece.
Novembri. M.D. XVI. Folio.

Collation: xxviii and 366 pages, the last being wrongly numbered 348 ;—1 leaf with anchor.

Editio princeps.

133. IAMBLICHVS de mysteriis Ægyptiorum, Chaldæorum, Assyriorum, etc.
Latine. Novembri. M.D. XVI. Folio.

Collation: 175 leaves, the last wrongly numbered 177.

Ten works bear the date of 1517 :

134. HOMERI opera omnia, cum vita ejus ex Herodoto, Dione et Plutarcho.
Graece. Ivnio M.D. XVII. 8vo.

Collation: Illiad, 277 leaves ;—1 blank leaf ;—Odyssey, 252 leaves ; Life of Homer, 56 leaves.

Rarer than the edition of 1504, and far more correct.

135. M. T. Cic. Officiorvm Libri III. Cato maior, sive de Senectvte. Laelius, sive de Amicitia. Somnium Scipionis, ex VI. de Rep. excerptvm. Ivnio. M.D. XVII. 8vo.

The only copy known was sold in London in 1792 ; at least Renouard states the fact, and adds that it was printed on vellum.

Collation : 320 leaves.

162. NERVAE & Traiani, atq; Adriani
Cæsarum uitæ ex Dione, etc. Avgvsto.
M. D. XIX. 8vo.

Collation : 424 leaves.

163. PLVTARCHI quæ vocantur

graeci nominis ac latini, provt quæqve alteri convenire videbatvr, digestæ. Græce.
Avgvste. M. D. XIX. Folio.

Collation : iv and 346 leaves.

It is said there are two editions under this date.
I cannot myself assert that I have met with any satisfactory proof of this, though Renouard seems convinced of the fact.

164. Q. HORATII Flacci Poemata omnia. Centimetrum Marij Seruij. Anno-tationes Aldi Manutij Romani in Horatium.
Ratio mensuum, quibus Odæ eiusdem
Poëtæ tenentur eodem Aldo authore.
Nicolai Peroti libellus eiusdem argumenti.
Novembri. M. D. XIX. 8vo.

Collation : viii and 192 leaves.

165. COMMENTARIORUM de bello
Gailico libri viii., etc. Novemb. M. D. XIX.
8vo.

Collation : xvi and 296 leaves.

A reprint of the edition of 1513.

We only meet with 6 works in 1520, viz.:

166. QVINTVS CVRTIVS. Ivlio.
M. D. XX. 8vo.

† 12

Collation: viii and 172 leaves.

Rare.

A copy on vellum, with coloured initials, appears in the Soubise Catalogue, No. 8010.

191. LVCIANI dialogi et alia multa opera, etc. Octobri. M. D. xxii. Folio.

Collation: x and 572 pages, the last, owing to an error commencing page 450, being numbered 271.

Care should be taken to see if pages 385-392 and 435-440 have not been torn out, as they were suppressed by the Inquisition.

192. IL Decamerone di. M. Giovanni Boccaccio novamente corretto con tre novelle aggiunte.—Impresso in Vinegia nelle Case d'Aldo Romano, & d'Andrea Asolano suo suocero nell' anno M. D. XXII. Del mese di Nouembre. 4to.

Collation: viii and 204 leaves, followed by the same appendix as in the 1501, 1508, and 1514 editions.

Under the date of 1524, I can only trace three works, viz:

203. HOMERI opera omnia. Graece. Aprili. M. D. xxiii. 2 vol. 8vo.

Collation: Vol. i., 278 leaves; vol. ii., 252 leaves.

Very inferior to the editions of 1504 and 1517, and not nearly so rare.

In 1525, the Aldine Press produced again three works, viz. :

206. XENOPHONTIS omnia, quae extant. Graece. Aprili. M. D. xxv. Folio.

Collation : iv and 87 leaves, after which come 2 blank leaves, followed by 116 leaves of text and 1 leaf with anchor. Leaves 84 and 85 are wrongly numbered 85 and 86.

207. THEODORI (Gazae) Grammatices libri. iiii. De mensibus liber eiusdem. Georgii Lecapeni de constructione uerborum. Emmanuelis moschopuli de constructione nominum, & uerborum. Eiusdem de accentibus. Graece. Iunio. M. D. xxv. 8vo.

Collation : 238 leaves.

Very rare.

208. GALENI opera omnia. Graece, M. D. xxv. 5 vols. Folio.

Collation : Vol. i., 316 leaves in all ; vol. ii., 294 leaves in all (the last numbered 160 instead of 106) ; vol. iii., 266 leaves in all ; vol. iv., 247 leaves in all ; vol. v., 337 leaves in all.

Renouard gives a most elaborate collation of each volume, but I believe the above will answer every purpose.

In 1526, again, only three works appeared :

209. SIMPLICII Commentarii. Ianuario M. D. xxvi. Folio.

Collation: iv and 178 leaves.

H 210. OMNIA Opera Hippocratis.
Graece. Maii. M. D. xxvi. Folio.

Collation: vi and 234 leaves.

Editio princeps. Rare.

Collation: iv and 322 leaves.

Eight works were issued in 1527, viz.:

212. NICOLAI Perotti Cornucopiae
latinae. Folio.

Collation: clxiv. and 750 pages. The date of 1526 appears at foot of columns 1054 and 1436, and that of 1527 on the last page.

Editio princeps.

225. ACTII Synceri Sannazarii de Partv Virginis, etc. Avgvsto, M. D. XXVIII. 8vo.

Fearing

Collation: 67 leaves.

Only one work bears the date of 1529:

226. RECOGNITIO Veteris Testamenti ad hebraicam veritatem, etc. M D XXIX. 4to.

Collation: ii and 212 leaves.

Andrea d'Asola died in 1529. After his death long disputes between his sons and those of Aldus the Elder caused the Press to stand idle for four years, and it was only in 1533 that work was resumed, under the direction of Paulus Manutius, and in the joint interest of himself, his brothers, and the heirs of Andrea.

PAULUS MANUTIUS.

DURING the years that Andrea d'Asola had managed the undertaking, the children of Aldus were growing up.

For the first few years they remained under the guardianship of their mother at Asola, but they were soon removed to Venice, where Paul especially was received with open arms by his father's old friends, Bembo, Ramberto, Egnatio, and others. He devoted himself to study with such ardour that he seriously injured his health, and for two years had to give up work of every description. Having recovered his strength, he experienced great annoyance from the disputes which arose between his uncles and himself as to the working of the printing establishment, domesticas controversias, as he calls them in a letter to his friend Saulius (Ep. i. 3). From 1529 to 1533 the Press remained inactive, but in the latter year Paulus Manutius, though only 21 years of age, took the management into his own hands, and we now find that most, if not all, the works issuing from his Press bear the imprint "In Aedibus Haeredum Aldi et Andreæ Asulani Soceri." I shall not quote the imprint in future, and, as I now trust the reader has understood the plan I am following, I shall also omit the repetition of the word "Collation," though I shall continue to give the Collation itself after the size of each volume. The date will be given at the head of the list of publications for each year, but will not be repeated after each work.

In this year (1536) Manutius was called to Rome. He there became acquainted with Marcello Cervino, afterwards Pope Marcellus II.
He seems to have been away during the whole of the year 1537, and to have only returned in 1538,
in which year he only issued one book.

M. D. XXXVIII.

256. INDEX in C. Plinii Nat. Hist. libros. 8vo. 251 leaves.

This very rare volume completes the Pliny. It is printed in two columns with a poor type.

At the end of 1538 Manutius again left Venice, and spent some time in visiting the ancient libraries of Italy. In 1540 the connection between him and his uncles ceased, and henceforth nearly all his books bear the imprint Apud Aldi filios.

Though bearing only the name of Frederick Torresano, it is undoubtedly printed by Paulus Manutius. After having tried several printers, Frederick renewed his commercial transactions with Manutius in 1549. In 1558 his sons or nephews started a press of their own, adopting for their imprint the formula in or ex Bibliotheca Aldina, which one of them, Bernardo Torresano, had used in Paris, whence he had just returned after having been a bookseller there about twelve years.

The book is rare.

Editions have been quoted by Mitscherlich bearing the dates of 1551, 52, and 57 but he has evidently copied from Bibl. Horatiana, 1775, 8vo.

The error is proved by the fact that he quotes the imprint of all as being Apud Aldum Jun., and Aldus the younger was only born in 1547, being thus only 4 years old in 1551, 6 in 1553, and 10 in 1557.

In 1556, Frederick Badoaro, a leading senator of Venice, formed the Accademia Veneziana consisting of about 100 literary men. To this Academy was added a press of which Manutius was made director. A catalogue was issued in Italian and Latin of intended publications. Only a few works were issued in 1558-59, all magnificently printed and now excessively rare. A list will be found after the catalogue of the works produced by Aldus the younger, in vol. iii. The plan was, however, a failure, Badoaro having got into disgrace, and been imprisoned in 1562.

In 1561 Pius IV. wrote to Manutius begging him to come to Rome and superintend the printing of various works of theology. After some hesitation he accepted the offers made him, and in August left Venice, and was received at Rome with great honour. His family, whom he had left behind, soon joined him, and for nine years he printed a number of now rare works in the Empire City. Meanwhile, the Venice press was not idle, and was shortly placed under the management of his son Aldus the Younger. In a few years, however, Manutius finding himself no longer treated with the same generosity and attention as at first, began to long to return to Venice. This he did in September 1570. To distinguish the works printed at Rome from those printed at Venice, I have marked the former with a *.

On the 6th of April 1574, Paulus Mantuanus died, at the age of 61. He was buried in the Dominican Church at Rome. He had fought a noble fight, and he descended into the grave amidst the tears of his family and friends, and the universal regret of all. He was a master indeed in the Art of typography; the finest Latin scholar, to judge from his letters, of his age; a dutiful son, an affectionate father, and a true and noble man.

placed at his disposal three years before. In 1590 he obtained the management of the Vatican Press. Meanwhile the Aldine Press at Venice was not idle, but, with Nicolo Manassi as manager, continued to produce edition after edition. I do not agree with Renouard's view that Manassi was the owner, not the manager, of the works. On the 28th of October 1797, Aldus died at Rome, at the age of 50.

To his grandfather and father he owed the celebrity he enjoyed, far more than to his own merits. Anxious to make a name as an author, he neglected the duties of a printer, and the works printed by him never have had, and never will have, the value of those printed by Aldus the Elder and Paulus Manutius. Consequently, I have not thought it necessary to go into so many details as to his productions as I have done with regard to those of his father and grandfather. With a few exceptions, Aldine editions after 1574 are little sought after. In Aldus Manutius the Younger ended a family, the honour of literature and typography, whose fame cannot die so long as a single one of the volumes printed by them during a whole century shall continue to exist !

FORGERIES.

As I have stated (vol. 1, p. 23), no sooner had Aldus introduced his italic, than not only imitations (which would of course be allowable), but actual forgeries, bearing the name of Aldus, were produced at Venice, Basle, but especially at Lyons. I subjoin a list of these various editions :

1. Virgilius. 8vo. No date, and leaves unnumbered.

2. Ivvenalis. Persivs. 8vo. No date, and leaves unnumbered.

There are two editions, one very incorrect, the other much better.

DOUBTFUL EDITIONS.

Aldine editions of the following authors have been announced by various Bibliographers, but of the existence of none of them have I been able to trace the slightest real proof. Many owe their origin to careless compilers, many to a figure scatched out with a penknife, as for instance, in an edition of M.D.I., removing the I and creating an edition of M.D. Again, with a pen, by adding a I, the edition has become M.D.II., and so on. All these editions, which I believe have no existence, but which I have found mentioned by Bibliographers, I have collected in the following list :—

1. AEGINETÆ opera. Folio. 1534.
2. ALDI Grammatica Graeca. 1497. ~
3. AMMONIUS in Pophyrium. 8vo. 1545.
